

The Outpost Fishing Report

Outpost: June 21

June 21, 2011

Outpost update begins with some sun...

... and shadows on the dock for the first time in a while. Fitting as it's the summer solstice today. Fishing slowed a bit as winds swung around and a bunch of cold water moved in and was crystal clear. In the photo above Mark, Henry and Clayton come in from a morning of fishing with Linden and Andrew awaiting their arrival.

Mike Panz has been out with veteran WCFC anglers Al and Jim who pose here with a nice little ling...

They also caught the funniest shaped fish we'd seen in a while...

look how large the head is and how small the tail is, not sure what happened to this yellow eye but it looks like a cartoon character.

There were some nice Chinook caught today up to 26 lbs and with weather improving tomorrow a few boats are heading out all day and I expect will do very well.

Here at the ranch Deb and Sandy celebrated a 30th wedding anniversary...

We're thrilled you decided to spend it with us and they're heading out to do some hiking and kayaking after fishing in the next couple of days.

Speaking of alternate activities guides JP and Mark have decided to get into shape (after a winter of mostly leisure) by swimming this summer, I thought they were kidding...

...apparently not! Although JP looks like he's having second thoughts.

I've got some exciting fisheries news that I'll share with you tomorrow...but the forecast for the season looks outstanding.

Never a dull day.
